1. Homepage:

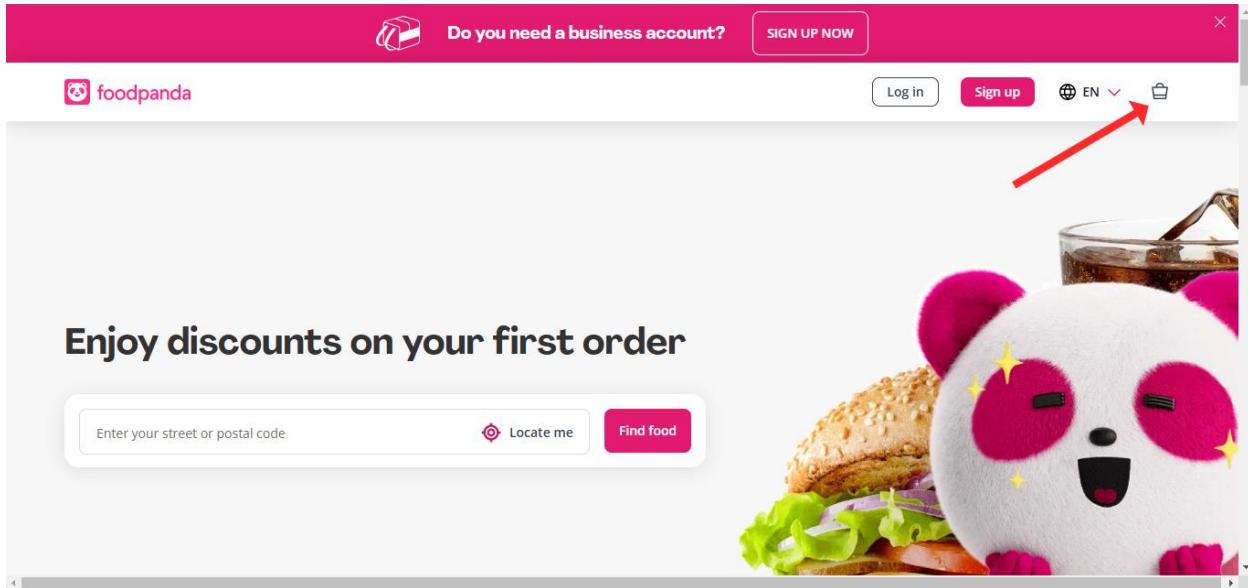

1.1. Bug # 1

Having two sign-up buttons can confuse users. To clarify, add tooltips that appear when users hover over on each button. For example, if one button is for email sign-up and the other for social media, the tooltips could say "Sign up with email" and "Sign up with social media.

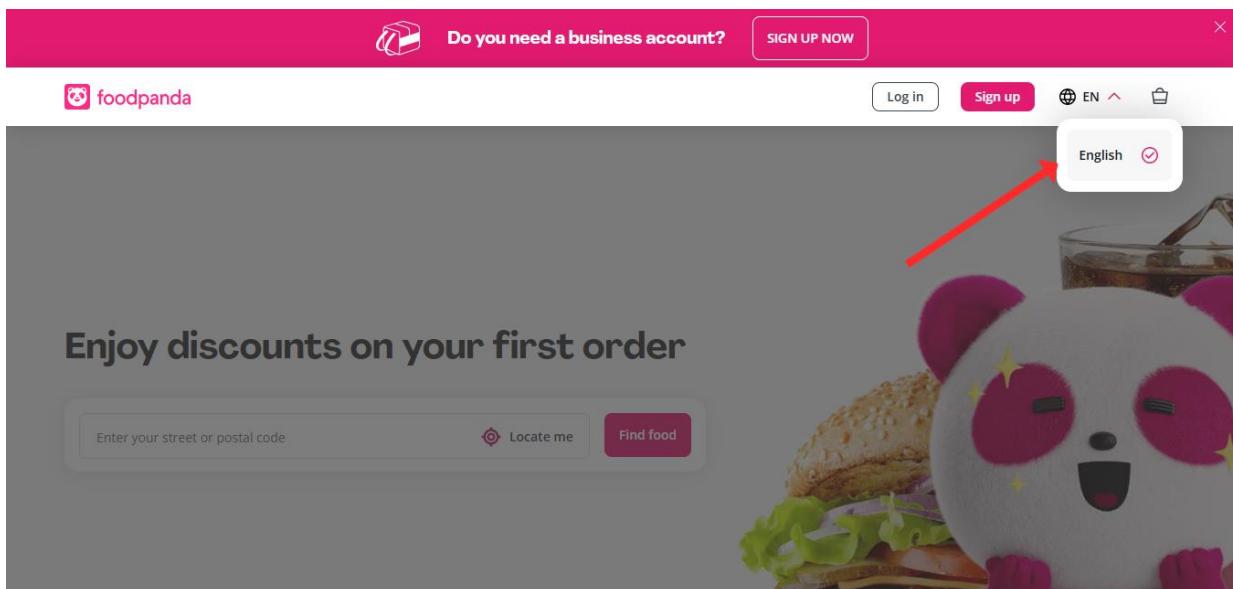

1.2. Bug # 2:

The cart button on the homepage doesn't work because users can't add items to the cart from there. Therefore, it's best to remove the cart button from the homepage

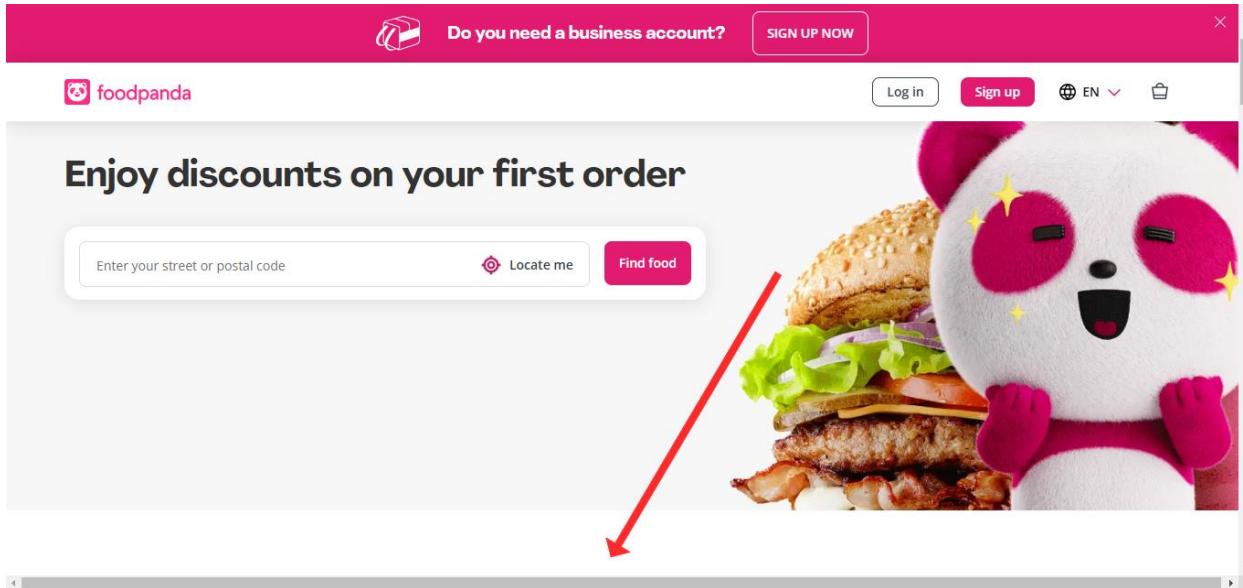

1.3. Bug # 3:

no need for drop down menu as there is only one language option.

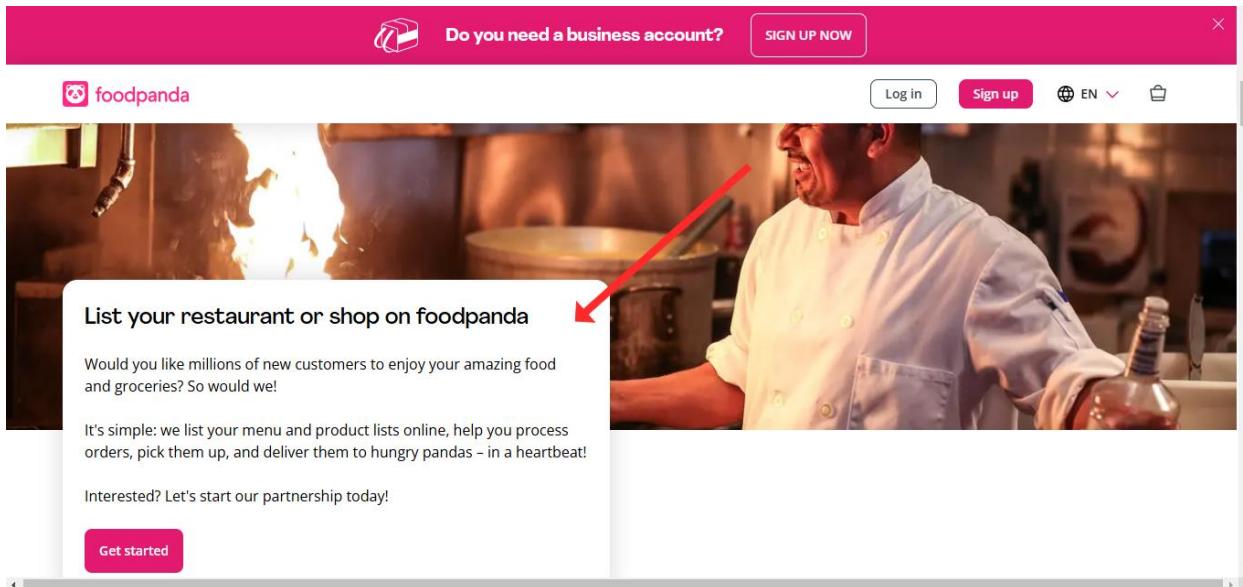

1.4. Bug # 4:

A horizontal scrollbar on the foodpanda website looks unprofessional. To remove it, set the CSS property overflow-x to hidden. This will hide the horizontal scrollbar while still allowing vertical scrolling.

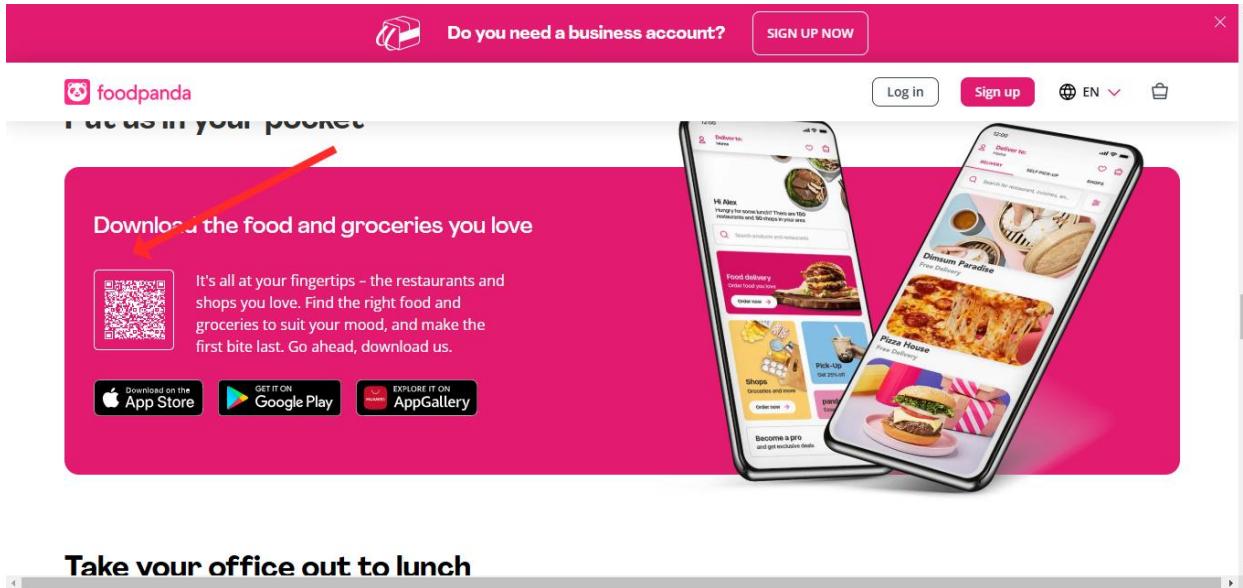

1.5. Bug # 5:

Placing a text box over the image hides the food, making the image less effective. To improve clarity, position the text box below or beside the image.

1.6. Bug # 6:

QR code is non functional so it is better to remove it or add functionality to it

Take your office out to lunch

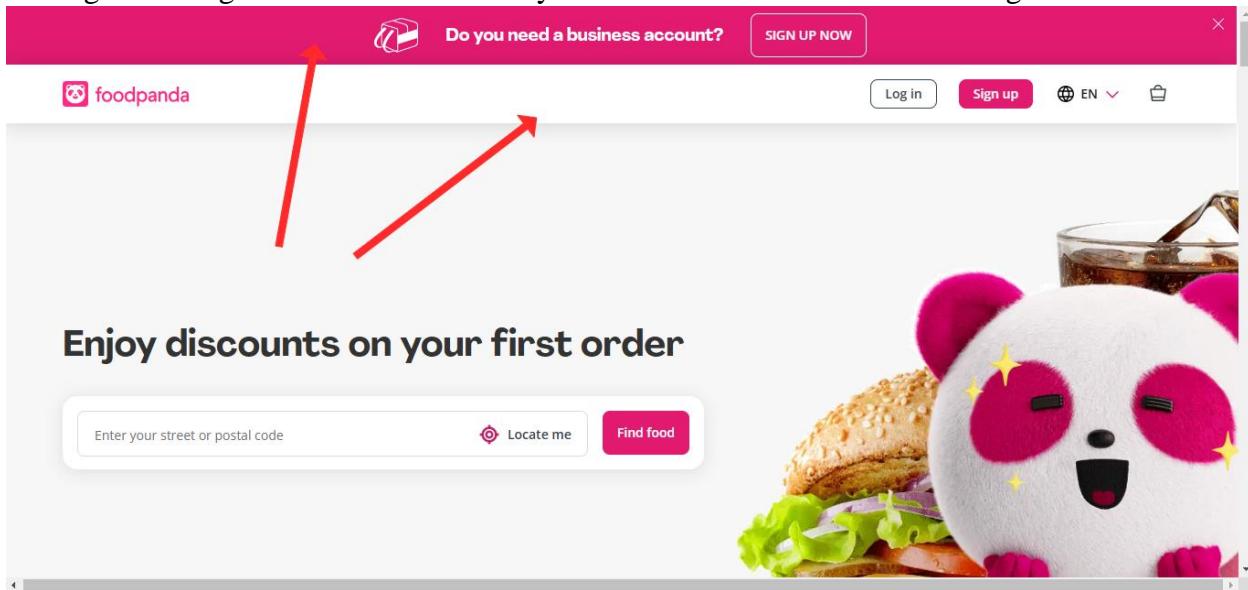

1.7. Bug # 7:

Underlines on each link make the page look messy. To remove them, set the CSS text-decoration property to none for all links.

1.8. Bug # 8:

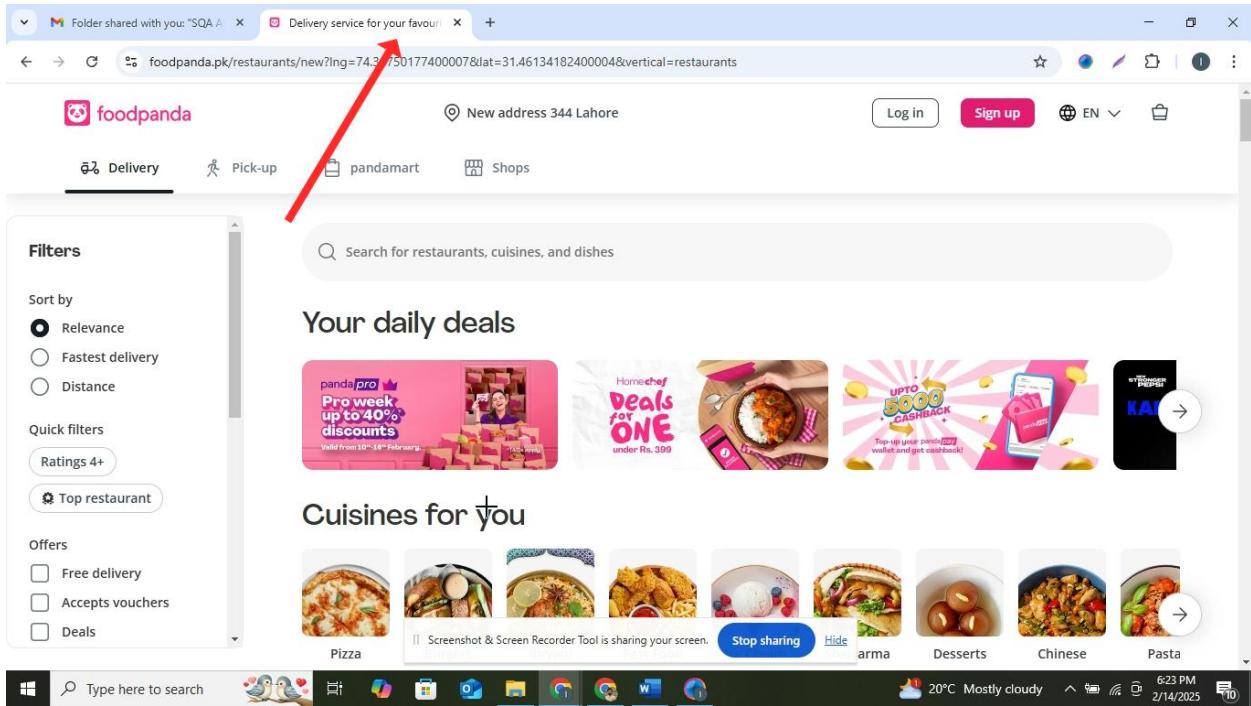

Having two navigation bars isn't necessary since all content fits well into a single navbar.

1.9. Bug # 9:

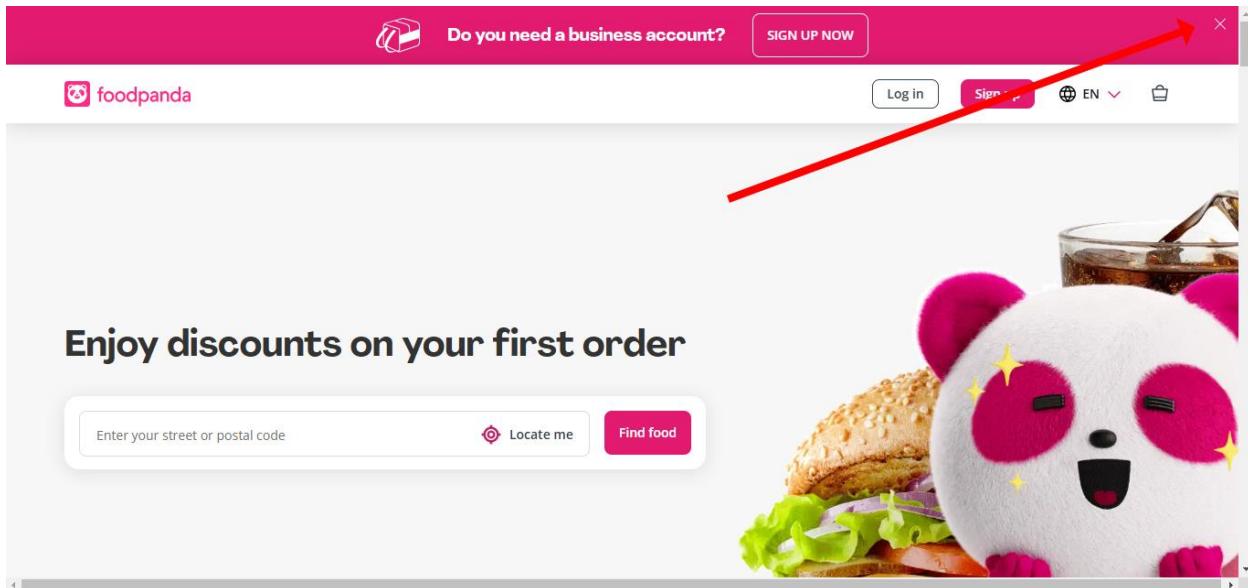

When we click "Locate Me" and then "Find Food," we are redirected to the delivery service page. After this, you can't return to the homepage unless you log in with a different user account in Google Chrome and reopen the Foodpanda website.

1.10. Bug # 10:

When you close the "Signup for Business" banner in Google Chrome, it won't appear again for you, even if you restart the browser or open a new window. To see this again we have to login with other user account and then open foodpanda website.

2. Food panda for Business

2.1. Bug # 11:

Social media icons are not properly aligned

A screenshot of the foodpanda for business website. At the top, there's a "Contact us" section with three categories: "Become a foodpanda for business client", "Order-related queries", and "List your restaurant", each with a contact email. Below this is a dark banner with the "foodpanda for business" logo, "About us", and "Company Login" links. A red arrow points from the text "icons are not aligned properly" to the social media icons (Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, Instagram) located below the "Company Login" link. To the right of the banner are download links for Google Play and the App Store.

2.2. Bug # 12:

The "Login to Company Portal" should be a button, not a description. This change will make it clear that "Login to Company Portal" is an action users can take.

A screenshot of the foodpanda for business website. At the top, there's a "Log in to company portal" button and a "Get Started" button. Below this is a section titled "Food worth working for" with a sub-section about treating co-workers and clients. 16.1. Bug # 58:

The dropdown arrow is missing in front of the location link

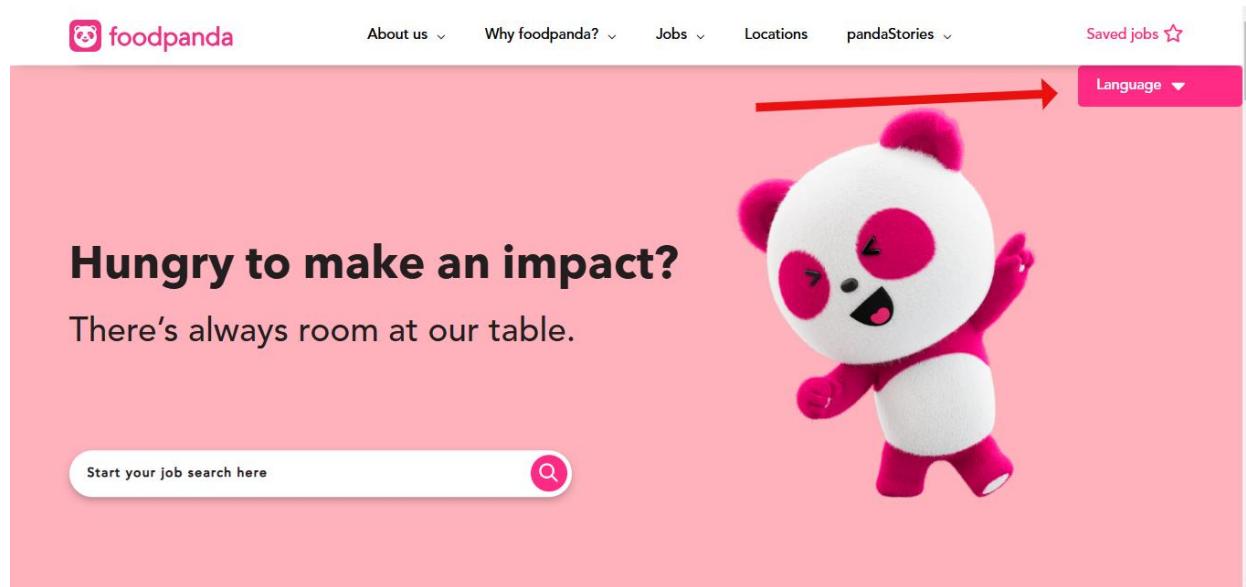

With multiple locations across Asia, there's always room at our table.

Click on a location below to explore current opportunities in that destination.

16.2. Bug # 59:

There's no need for a dropdown menu if only one language option is available. If a dropdown is added, there should be multiple language options.

16.3. Bug # 60:

The content should be aligned Centre in the webpage

The screenshot shows the Foodpanda homepage. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links: About us, Why foodpanda?, Jobs, Locations, pandaStories, and Saved jobs. Below the navigation is a large pink rectangular area. A red arrow points from the right side towards the center of this pink area, which contains the text: "To be the most loved everyday food and groceries destination". To the right of this text, a red annotation says: "content should be aligned centre". Below the pink area, there is a paragraph about the company's mission and its parent company, Delivery Hero.

...that's our mission at foodpanda. Whether it's by delivering food on our signature pink bikes, providing insights into the newest food trends, or showcasing local favorite restaurants, we're on a mission to redefine how food, people, culture and tech are connected.

Our parent company, Delivery Hero, is a global leader in the food delivery industry processing over 3 million orders every day and operating in 40+ markets in the world, with 18,000 employees and approximately 500,000+ restaurant partners.

17. Panda pro – Monthly Subscription Plan:

17.1. Bug # 61:

More content can be added for better understanding and to occupy the empty space.

Too much empty space

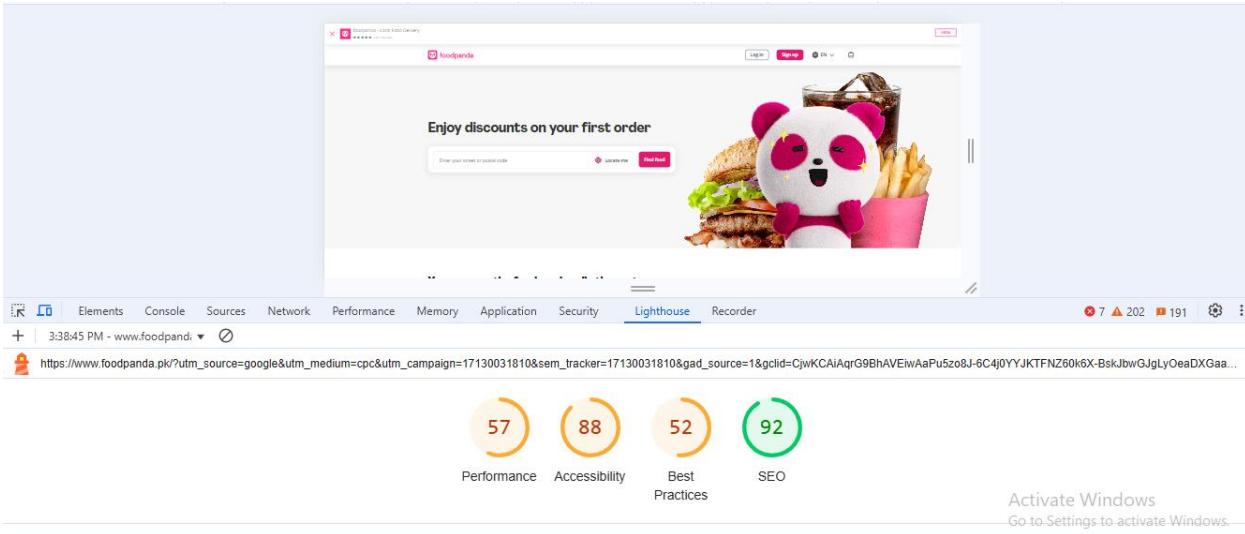

19.3. Bug # 67:

The image overlaps the content below it.

19.4. Bug # 68:

Chrome DevTools is a tool used to analyze the performance, accessibility, and SEO of a website. The performance and best practices score is 50%, which is not enough for a good and professional website.

20. Suggestions for making this website better:

20.1. Suggestion # 1:

Almost every page on Food panda has a similar image at the top, but it should match the content of that page instead of being random.

20.2. Suggestion # 2:

Some pages have too much text, making them hard to read and boring for users. Since people don't like reading long content anymore, it's better to keep it short and engaging. Also, There's a lot of unnecessary data, links, and pages. To keep things clean and simple, it's best to remove anything redundant.

20.3. Suggestion # 3:

The website has major navigation issues that make the user experience frustrating. If I accidentally open Food panda for Business, there's no way to return to the homepage without restarting the website. The same thing happens on the Careers page—if I open a link, there's no direct way back to the main site.

20.4. Suggestion # 4:

The website has many alignment issues, making the user experience poor. All buttons, links, and content should be properly aligned to make it more attractive.

20.5. Suggestion # 5:

There is too much empty space on the website. That space should be used to add more content or serve another purpose; otherwise, it looks like something is missing.

20.6. Suggestion # 6:

There is no validation in the forms on the Food panda website, so user-provided information is not properly checked. This issue should be fixed as soon as possible.
